Common exception words

Common exception words are words that you need to be able to spell correctly. The only problem is that you may not recognise all of the spelling rules needed to spell them just yet. You may also find that some of them don't follow specific spelling rules. Try learning them by using look, say, cover, write and check. Try using them to write in sentences when you are at home. This will help you to learn them too.

I haven't given you two words to test this week. Instead you will be tested on all of the words on the spelling list above.
